President's Report

Today we welcome the Directors, supporters and players of Newcastle for the return match at Leichhardt Oval. I was present at Breakers Stadium when we played Newcastle in Round 1 and they certainly showed, under ex-Olympic player John Kosmina, what a good side they are with a hard fought 2-2 draw.

Everyone at Olympic is very proud of the team's efforts so far this year. It is a very long season, but with one third of home and away matches over it is pleasing to see the team at the top end of the Ericsson Cup ladder.

I wish both teams well today. It is fun to see two former Olympic team mates, David Ratcliffe and John Kosmina opposing each other today as coaches.

Coach's Report

Tonight is the first game of the second round of the season. All teams have played each other once now and it is proving to be a very equal competition.

Not knowing the results of Round 11 as I write this it looks as though no teams have emerged as clear favourites. Canberra's away win at the Melbourne Knights shows that any team can win on any given day.

Tonight we welcome Newcastle Breakers to Leichhardt Oval for a very important game. John Kosmina has a young squad at his disposal with a number of very good players.

Experienced David Lowe leads the side with Clayton Zane, Jason Bennett, Gary Wilson and Craig Sharply all players to look out for. It was a very even contest in the first round ending in a 2-2 draw.

We certainly need a good result this evening to keep us in the main pick of teams. All the players realise this and are determined to put on a very good performance. Milan Blagojevic will be back after suspension which is a big boost for the side as he is a key player for us. But again we need a team performance with everyone making a contribution.

With the number of games we are having, it puts the pressure on the players to look after their injuries. The club doctor and physio are very important people in the club at this stage. They are doing everything they can to ensure the players are fit and ready to play each week.

The players are hoping to get amongst the goals again tonight and it is great to see the support you are giving the players at all our games.

— DAVID RATCLIFFE

Norman Tome is one of Olympic's most loved players, particularly amongst the teenage girls!

When Norman has the ball or scores a cracking goal (like the one last week against West Adelaide) the noise of the crowd is phenomenal. Norman appreciates this support he gets and says it motivates him to try harder.

Tome has been playing for Olympic for three years and says this is by far the best year. The coaching staff and players are working very hard at training and everyone is getting along very well.

Tome has his sights set on winning the inaugural Ericsson Cup. We all wish him well for the rest of the season and hope, for all our sakes, that his dream comes true.

"Straight Shooting"

With ANDY PASCHALIDIS (Alias Uncle Stavros)

If there's any lesson for any young player to learn about overseas football then they should speak to Adelaide-born John Aloisi.

It took him just 80 seconds to make his mark in what is regarded the toughest league in world football — Serie A. Aloisi scored on debut for Cremonese in their recent 2-1 win against Padova.

An Adelaide City junior, Aloisi decided to try his luck overseas before playing National League football. In recent times, only a couple of Australians have succeeded, the most notable Rangers defender, Craig Moore.

But Aloisi has followed the correct path unlike other more notable young Australian products. He went overseas to Belgium and after trialling with a few clubs secured a contract with Royal Antwerp.

Antwerp, you might recall, lost the 1993 European Cup Winners Cup final against Parma 3-1 at Wembley.

19-year-old Aloisi had a great start to the Belgian league this season scoring three goals in six matches. He had attracted interest from some clubs, but Cremonese wanted him the most. They had only scored seven goals in their first 10 games and were rooted at the foot of the table on three points.

I remember speaking to Aloisi on On-the-Ball last year. I had originally set-up an interview with Aureli Vidmar, but when I called him at home "Viddy" suggested I speak to John as well, saying that he will one day make a big name for himself.

I had met John's family in Adelaide and had seen his brother John play several National League games. However, many Adelaide soccer identities kept telling me John is a special player.

He's following a somewhat similar path to Frank Farina although the former Socceroo striker had played about 40 internationals and had won a few National League titles before he joined Club Brugge.

Farina was inspirational at the club finishing top-scorer twice before signing a lucrative deal to join Bari along with David Platt in 1990. Sadly, Farina, struggled under the relentless pressure of the tight marking game in Italy.

Aloisi has the soccer world at his feet, literally.

"This was an opportunity every player dreams of," Aloisi said.

"The transfer market was open and Cremonese needed a striker. My old team-mate at Antwerp, Francis Severeys also thought I should take the chance.

"He played in Italy with Pisa in the late eighties and he thought I would be able to adapt. The club has welcomed me with open arms and I'm really happy to be here."

At the time of going to press, Aloisi was set to play his second Serie A game at the magnificent San Siro Stadium against Inter Milan. Hopefully, he did well.

While Aloisi is making headlines spare a thought for Atalanta striker, Christi Vieri. Currently in the Italian Under 21 side, Vieri, learnt most of his junior football in Australia.

His father, Roberto, was one of the best import players to play in the National League. However, the family moved back to Italy and at the tender age of 14 Vieri trialled with a third division club Prato and they signed him.

The rest is history. He spent six years with Torino and made his Serie A debut at 18 scoring a goal against Genoa. All up he played seven first division matches.

At 19 he was loaned out to Ravenna in Serie B to gain more experience. Italian clubs have done this on many occasions and in many cases it is a successful policy. That season he made this Italian Under 21 debut!!!

From Ravenna he moved to Venezia last season and scored 11 goals in Serie B and also four with the Italian Under 21 side who have since qualified for the European Championships.

This season Vieri was afforded superstar status after scoring three goals in three rounds for his new Serie A club Atalanta. Sadly the fairytale came to a shattering halt after he was sidelined because of injury.

Vieri is struggling to get back in the first team, but time is on his side. He signed a four-year-old deal with Atalanta and his transfer from Venezia was worth 4.5 million dollars!!!!

"I had great preparation for the new season and it was a big buzz to score those goals," Vieri said: "I hope to get back in the team, but I must say the coach, Mondonico has been magnificent."

"We have a great side and I am sure we are more than capable of holding our own in Serie A."

Whistle Stop

by PHIL HAFEY

At this stage of the season, many teams are feeling the impact of suspensions through the penalty points system used when players are cautioned. The system used in the Ericsson Cup is clearly detailed in the Competition By-Laws and I shall briefly outline the main features.

When a player is cautioned, the referee records the actual offence and the allocated points (as stipulated by Soccer Australia) on the form which is then sent with the teamsheet to the Ericsson Cup office. Offences and their allocated points include:

- 1 - Entering or leaving the field of play without permission
- 2 - Gesticulating in front of a player taking a free-kick or throw-in
- 2 - Wasting time
- 2 - Deliberate hand ball
- 3 - Encroachment within 10 yards at a free-kick
- 3 - Persistent infringement of the laws
- 4 - Shirt pulling
- 4 - Holding or pushing an opponent
- 4 - Dissent by action
- 6 - Deliberate trip
- 6 - Deliberate late tackle
- 6 - Foul tackle from behind

When a player receives fifteen (15) points, he is suspended for one (1) match. When his tally reaches thirty (30), a two (2) match suspension is imposed. Players who accumulate forty-two (42) and then fifty-four (54) points are suspended for three (3) and four (4) matches respectively. In addition, a player who has accumulated twenty-four (24) points may be required to appear before the tribunal to determine if any additional penalty should be imposed.

A monetary fine is also imposed for each caution, regardless of the points allocation, in line with FIFA's instructions.

Players who are sent from the field are also subject to mandatory suspension. In most cases players are suspended for one match for their first offence, two matches for their second etc. although there are some offences involving violence and actions against match officials where a more severe sentence is stipulated. In addition to the suspension, a monetary fine is also imposed.

QUESTIONS:

1. A penalty kick is awarded and the correct penalty mark is in a hole. Can the ball be placed behind the mark?
2. A defender takes a throw-in and throws the ball over the head of his own goalkeeper and into goal. What action should the referee take?
3. Play is in the centre circle when the Blue #11 runs off the field and punches the opposing manager. What action should the referee take?
4. What is the maximum width of the line markings?

1. No, the ball must be placed on the penalty mark.
2. Restart play with a corner kick — a goal cannot be scored direct from a throw-in.
3. Stop play, send the Blue #11 from the field for violent conduct and restart the game with a drop-ball where the ball was when play was stopped. A free-kick cannot be awarded for two reasons, the offence took place off the field and the person punched was not an opposing player.
4. Twelve centimetres (5 inches).

Libero

by SOPHIA CATHARIOS

One of the most liberating experiences of my life has been my recent decision to attend a soccer match.

"You may wonder why attending a soccer match is for a middle aged women like me an "act of emancipation."

Fate had it that I was born a female and brought up as the only child. Being raised in a traditional middle class Greek family I sustained a childhood of attention and tender protection which created in me mixed feelings of satisfaction and suffocation bordering claustrophobia.

As the years pass, living in Australia as a member of the Greek community, just as the rest of my compatriots, I often find myself, engaged in a psychological tug of war trying to balance my existence between today and yesterday, getting often entangled into the cultural web of present, past and future, falling victim to the distortions and dramatic characteristic of us Greeks, if you forgive the stereotype.

At such a moment of anxious analysis of my socio-cultural circumstance, my son, in true philosophical Aussie form uttered this momentous statement.

"Mum, you think too much".

"Just like eating too much raises you cholesterol, too much thinking ruins your health. Take up some sport, exercise."

Confined all my life between the walls of bureaucracy with very little time to spare the only physical activity I have engaged in is planting geraniums in my backyard. Taking up sport activities for me a middle aged woman seemed suddenly excessively difficult.

"Well then, if you don't want to be a sport participant be a sport spectator" my husband suggested.

Yes, that could be an idea, except there wasn't much of a choice for me in that domain either. You see I loved to watch tennis but, I've always been jealous of those slim, slender female figures who are practically flying on the court making me feel, oh, so inferior.

I've always been turned off by the brutality of Rugby League, can't stand cricket and I am bored to tears by the slow pace of golfers, pursuing with infinite attention the serpentine movements of tiny white balls whose destination is a tiny hole in grass.

"Come to the soccer with us Mum" my son suggested.

"What do I know about soccer?" I protested.

"You must, it's the Greek national game", my husband interjected.

"Come to think of it, I remember Vicky Moshollou married Domazos, didn't she, or was it Loukanidas".

"Oh Mum that's ancient history".

"Come to Leichhardt oval to watch Olympic this Saturday,"

Soccer, yes, why not I thought. My memories raced several decades back when as a lonely and protected child I would sit for hours behind my bedroom window, lace curtains drawn on one side, watching with envy the neighbourhood boys transform the street to a soccer field, their feet chasing the leather ball in all directions.

Oh, how I wanted to come out and mix with them, play the game, kick the ball, cry out unutterable insults to the opposite team. But heaven forbid, I could not do that. Soccer was not a recommended activity for a respectable young girl. But that was then. Now I was fifty years older, twenty thousand kilometres away.

I turned to both my son and my husband.

I smiled broadly and with a feeling of exuberance I stated.

"I'll come with you to the soccer game provided you do me a favour. Find out if there are any women's teams for over fifty year olds. I want to learn how to kick the ball".

There, I had said it, and by doing so I had trespassed the forbidden territory of my childhood. I was free at last.

Sophia Catharios is a poet and dramatist. She is a manager of EEO Unit at SBS.

To celebrate the United Nations 50th Birthday, soccer players around Australia will take part in a very special worldwide celebration: THE DAY THE WORLD PLAYED FOOTBALL on Sunday, December 10.

On THE DAY THE WORLD PLAYED FOOTBALL tens of millions of people will join together in a chain, north and south, east and west, to play soccer in 24-hours of non-stop global soccer.

All soccer games played throughout Australia on that day will be part of the international spectacular.

In order for a continuous "ribbon" of soccer to be played on a global basis, however, Australia has been requested to stage its official contribution to the world game's day of celebration at 4.00pm on Sunday, December 10. This game will take place at part of Soccer Australia's weekly Ericsson Cup matches and will feature a spectacular Youth Team clash between UTS Olympic and the Newcastle Breakers at Sydney's Leichhardt Oval, Mary Street, Leichhardt. This will be a preliminary game before the major Ericsson Cup clash between current top-ranked Cup team UTS Olympic and the visiting Newcastle Breakers.

"We are delighted to join our FIFA colleagues and be part of THE DAY THE WORLD PLAYED FOOTBALL, a day uniting the world's most popular game with the United Nations' 50th birthday celebrations. And Australia's official game will feature the hope we have for the future of Australian soccer: young players with enormous, enthusiasm natural skill and potential," Soccer Australian Chairman David Hill said today.

"But THE DAY THE WORLD PLAYED FOOTBALL is more than just one game. We have Ericsson Cup matches being played around the country and we expect Aussie soccer fans to get out on their local fields and have a game of soccer to celebrate this day: take the kids and family on a picnic and don't forget to pack the soccer ball; have an impromptu game with the neighbours or at the beach... Whatever Australians do, they should enjoy the game of soccer and encourage their friends and family to have some fun and celebrate the United Nations' 50th Birthday as well!"
